Old Bounders News Sporting Star from Boundary Oak School.....

Anthony Allen an Old Bounder (1986-2000), was, at the tender age of 20, selected to play for England at the Investec Challenge match against New Zealand's mighty All Blacks on November 5th, at Twickenham. Anthony was taught his rugby skills at Boundary Oak School by Nick Bird, also an old boy, and Trojans RFC. He was a very competent player during his later years at Boundary Oak and showed these skills regularly, particularly during two school rugby tours of South Africa.

Boundary Oak School proudly entered a number of children in the Great South Run, on the 21st October. The money raised will be donated to the Anthony Nolan Trust, for bone marrow research.
